

Winner at FM Excellence Awards

RNM Systems, a specialist in workplace management solutions, has won a prestigious accolade at this year's BIFM International Investors in FM Excellence Awards 2008.

The company was selected from dozens of entrants for its workplace management software suite, Condeco, which helps large enterprises, central and local Government and SMEs to manage the day-to-day aspects of office life with ease and fluidity.

With flexi-working and home working on the rise, offices and car parks are barely 50% utilised. Condeco helps companies to identify areas where there are idle desks, empty meeting rooms and car park spaces, enabling them to maximise occupancy, which reduces operational costs and their carbon footprint.

Paul Statham, managing director at RNM Systems, said: "We are delighted to win this highly coveted award. The FM Excellence awards ceremony is one of the most prestigious events in the industry calendar and we are very proud that Condeco has been chosen as the best technology product."

He added: "It is great to receive industry recognition for this cutting-edge product and we hope that this acknowledgement will help to propel Condeco to the next level and further penetrate our target markets."
