

Condeco Desk Booking

The office hoteling software that helps you work smarter

Condeco's desk booking software helps you to maximize your available office space by highlighting areas of low usage and providing a user friendly booking system to manage office hoteling where appropriate.

The way we work is constantly changing, with an increasing number of employees choosing to work more flexibly. This means that the provision of a permanent desk for each employee is now unnecessary, and it is costing businesses millions of dollars from under-utilization of desks.

In the past, companies have tried to deal with the problem of half empty offices by simply reducing the number of desks available and asking employees to use whichever desk was free. This concept often proved unpopular with the workforce and was difficult to manage successfully.

With Condeco, you can initially monitor the actual desk usage without making any changes to your existing practices. You can then use the advanced reports to highlight areas of under-utilization and introduce shared desks where needed.

Condeco's desk booking functionality provides the perfect answer to the problem of providing shared desks for your more mobile team members. It allows each member of the team to book a desk when and where they need it.

The desks can be booked either through your company's intranet, from Condeco's 4.3" touch screens mounted on each desk or from conveniently located touch screen kiosks. Bookings are made through interactive floor plans that show available and booked spaces or by using the advanced search engine which finds the best fit desk for you.

By creating this smarter working environment, where desks are always able to be booked when needed and are not left empty, you can reduce your required office space by up to 30%. This reduction provides you with significant cost savings and helps reduce your carbon emission figures.

Condeco Desk Booking Software provides you with the right tools to optimize the use of your office space

Web-based software

Condeco is a web-based application, which runs on a single server, and is available to everyone throughout your organization without the need to install additional software on the workstations.

Measure desk utilization

We recommend a staged approach to the implementation of Condeco. First, you get the system installed and closely monitor desk utilization. Once you gain the available data that is produced from built-in reporting tools, you can adjust desk allocations step-by-step to optimize available workspace.

Interactive floor plans

Condeco users can directly view available and booked desks on a floor plan. From here, they can filter the graphical view to only show desks with preferred attributes. The plan will also highlight the location of other team members so that the users can work with a specific team on any given day.

Kiosks and Condeco Desk Screens

As well as booking desks directly through the corporate intranet, we provide the option to link Condeco to stand-alone touch screen kiosks or 4.3" desk screens. The kiosks and screens give employees, who have not pre-booked a desk, the ability to find one quickly and simply. Kiosks can be positioned in the reception area or on designated floors, and desk screens are mounted on each individual desk.

Desk management

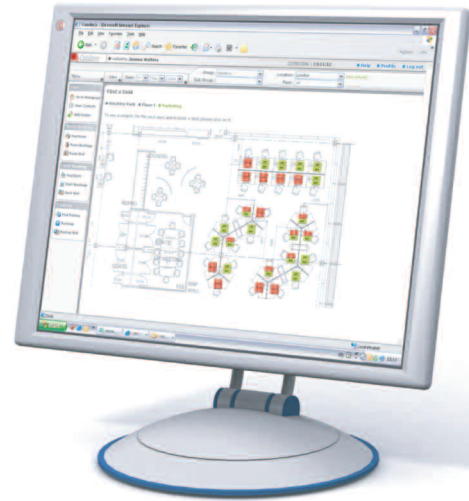

With Condeco you can manage all your desks, fixed and shared. Fixed desks can also be released to allow shared use during specified periods such as holidays. Condeco can be configured to automatically release desks for booking if employees do not arrive.

Reporting

Condeco's comprehensive reports provide you with a clear audit trail of desk utilization, bookings and user behavior, enabling you to manage your resources more effectively, track trends and reduce costs.
